Marconi Electronic Systems (MES), or GEC-Marconi as it was until 1998, was the defense arm of The General Electric Company (GEC). It was demerged from GEC and acquired by British Aerospace (BAe) in November, 1999 to form BAE Systems. GEC then renamed itself to Marconi plc. BAE Systems' Space Systems and Electronics division has more than 30 years of experience in providing advanced electronic components and sub-systems for national security and civil space applications. The company designs, develops, and manufactures a wide range of fully space-qualified, high-reliability electronic components and subsystems including electro-optical systems, infrared and visible focal-plane arrays, digital receivers, radiation-hardened ICs, and special ground processing systems.
