SYNOPSIS: Former martial arts teacher Uncle Tak runs a Chinese herbal medicine store and clinic in Los Angeles. One of his former American students, Johnny wants to get rich by monopolising martial arts schools in the United States. To accomplish this, he wants to beat all rival Asian masters, and tries to kill Uncle Tak.

Jet, Uncle Tak's best student and a Chinese martial arts champion, arrives in Los Angeles to find his old master. Jet's naivety soon finds him dealing with local thieves and gang rivalries. Through a loan manager called May, Jet learns a little about the American way of life, and discovers the bank are trying to foreclose on his Uncle's store. Befriended by a trio of would-be gang members, and a young and feisty gymnast named Anna who saved Uncle Tak, can Jet save the clinic, and end Johnny's quest for domination?
